REVIVALS HAVE

YOUNG PREACHER HAS STARTED tention of everyone in the building, A GREAT MOVEMENT.

American Revivals Are Largely the Result of the Agitation, Among the Welsh.

The revival meetings which are being conducted by Miss Daisy J. Nich- gregation, where every eye is uponols of Cincinnati, Ohio, in this city are a part of a great revivalistic tence, laughs aloud. And such laughmovement that has sprung up in America in the last year and is now assuming large proportions. meetings are held at the Central Methodist church at 2:30 in the afternoon and 7:30 in the evening and are meeting with the same success and hearty co-operation that those in the villages and towns of southern Wilsconsin which have been held met with. During the past winter revival meetings were held in the greater number of churches in Milwaukee and much has been done for Christian religion among the inhabitants of the Cream city. Origin in Wales

This movement that is now gaining proportions in America is largely the outgrowth of a wave of religious revival now sweeping over Wales which is similar to that which took place during the time of Howell Harris. The present wave blds fair to sweep over all Europe, so remarkable proportions has it assumed. The converts contrary to the usual rule are not impressionable women and girls whose emotional inwardness is aroused, but instead they are colliers, saloon-keepers, gamblers, workmen of all classes, drunkards as well-as the women and children.

The General Topic The revival is being carried from village to village throughout the country and there is hardly a settlement that has not heard the evancellst. The revival is the tonic of conversation in every locality and by overy class of people. In the ale houses, the homes, on the public conveyances and in the church it furnishes the principal theme of conversation. Evans Roberts. Lougher lad, is only twenty-six. It is he alone who has fired up the mining valleys, and who dominates the entire revival with a power which, as he says earnestly, is not from within him, but from above, the spirit which has lead him to do what he has done. The following account of the Welch revival appears in a New York paper:

Evans Roberts' Work

"In a railway carriage men who have not seen him repeat with awe the stories they read in the papers; how he is pale-faced, and how he says his body is electrified, and how he has visions, and what a strange light he has in his eyes, and how he has no watch that will keep time in his pocket, most of which course, mere talk, and if true at all, only in part.

None of the many scenes which have occurred at the meetings came while the preacher was speaking. They have come afterwards, and often a considerable time afterwards. A Strange Disappearance:

The German on his native heath has some peculiar notions about wit and humor, some of them being droll and others dreary. A tourist with his bride asked a driver if there was anything remarkable about the mountain they were ascending and he answered:

"No nothing neculiar about the bill itself, but there is a queer story connected with it."

"Please give us the legend."

"Well, once upon a time a young lady and gentleman went up this mountain together, and hundreds of people saw them go higher and higher until they disappeared, and they never came back."

"What became of them?" "They went down on the other side."—Chicago Record Herald Sunday

The trip of George Gould through Mexico is interpreted by some of the leading local railroad men as a preliminary step in plans to build a new road in that country.

The receipts of live stock by the various roads entering at the Union stocck yards in Chicago for the past month numbered 24,592 cars to 27,235 cars last year and 23,717 cars

The increase in the freight business of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road at this time is such that even with the new 4,000 freight cars, the last of which are now being finished, the road has not enough cquipment.

The Santa Fe management is urging its employes to invest in Texas lands. The general manager has lands. The general manager called attention to the fact that land in the Lone Star State is fast in creasing in value, and therefore furnishes a good opportunity for invest ment. The company does not own any lands in Texas, but the officials West Virginia on the Monongahela believe they will get better service and the West Fork rivers is already out of employes who have a financial interest in the places where they work.

The standards and practice of the Pennsylvania system, are held high in the railroad world and the history of these lines is one of the brightest if not the most highly illuminated much damage before the crest of the chapter in the history of railroads in America. In 1861 the Pennsylvania road put the first steel fire-box under mont, on the west fork of the Monon- an American docomotive boiler. The Pennsylvania was the first of our roads to lay steel rails and also the first to lay Bessemer rails in this country, which was in the year 1863 It was the first to use the air brake and signal block system. The Num ber One shop at Altoona, which is still standing, was the first, in 1873 to use an overhead crane. the Pennsylvania road moved 70,000 tons of freight in a year; that amount is now moved by the same system in one hour. A half a million passengers a year was the record then; now it transports each year one hundred and twenty three mil-lions of people. The motive power then consisted of fifty lomocotives while now the system musters 215. 000 freight cars and five locomotives areb uilt each week at the one shor lant in Altoona.

may be caused by diseased kidneys or some uterine derangement. Nature requires assistance and at once, and Lydis E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound instantly asserts its curative powers in all those peculiar ailments of women. It has been the standby of intelligent American women for twenty years, and the ablest specialists agree set with such symptoms as dizziness, that it is the most universally success-nam has received this year from those whom she has relieved.

Surely such testimony is convincing. Mrs. J.G. Holmes, of Larimore, North Dakota, writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:--Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I have suffered everything with backache and womb trouble—I let the trouble run on until my system was in such a condition that I was unable to be about, and then it was I commenced to use Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound. If I had only known bow much suffering I would have saved, I should have taken it months sconer—for a few weeks' treatment made me well and strong. My backaches and headaches are all gone and I suffer no pain at my menstrual periods, whereas before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's vegetable Compound I suffered intense pain."

upon Cape Fear river and in communirevealed to General Cox a line of Confederate infantry well intrenched leading from the bank of the river to the foot of Orton pond, a lake several miles long. Owing to the protection of this body of water the trenches could not be turned except by a long march. The line was further protected by abatis and manued with field artillery, which kept up a rapid fire of shrapnel whenever the Federals showed within range.

Two of General Cox's brigades were intrenched in front of Fort Anderson, and two others marched for the head of Orton pond, a distance of fifteen miles. It was night when the column reached the causeway at the head of the pond. The enemy resisted General

Throughout the day the fleet kept up a rain of fire upon Fort Anderson, and the Confederates abandoned the place during the night, leaving ten pieces of heavy artillery to the enemy.

The garrison of Fort Anderson reitreated along the river bank to a stream called Town creek, which flows at right angles with Cape Fear river. a few miles below Wilmington. On the east side of the river the Confederates under General Hoke also fell back and took up a position opposite the month of Town creek. General Terry followed up Hoke in his retreat, and General Arnes' division crossed from the west bank of the river to the east to support Terry. General Cox pursued the garrison column to the banks of Town creek.

Before evacuating Fort Anderson the Confederates built a strong line of through the air above know the true works on the north bank of Town sounds of modern war. General Cox immediately began to repair the pontson bridge and cross his column to the island. Meanwhile the detachment which had been ferried over marched on toward the city ferry and were met by a party of Confederates having a couple of cannon in position behind a rude work they had constructed to defend the road. While the riflemen of the Federal vanguard attempted to drive the Confederate gunners from their pieces General Cox opened with artillery from the west bank, and the explosion of the shells so close to the city warned the authorities that an enemy was at their gates.

Persistent rumors had been affoat around Wilmington that the Confederate General Hardee, who had evacuated Charleston and moved north with several thousand men, was about to succor the threatened city. General Terry could make no headway in trying to push Hoke's Confederates on the east bank of the river, and it was supposed that Hoke had been re-enforced. General Cox's story of the day is that the commanding officer of the expedition, General Schofield, ordered him (Cox) after he had secured a lodgment upon Eagle island to draw back and ferry his troops to the east bank of Cape Fear river to re-enforce Terry.

Being convinced from what he had seen on the west bank, General Cox seys that he purposely delayed obey-ing orders promptly, put one brigade in Mesdames J. F. and C. W. McCarmotion and reported the circumstance fully to his superior. The river bank being lined with swamps, it was midnight of the 21st before Cox's couriers reached his headquarters with fresh directions from Schofield. The chief approved Cox's action, although he had sent repeated orders to him to recross the river and support. Terry in an attack on Hoke. These orders had been the more urgent the afternoon of the 21st because Hoke resumed the aggressive at that time as a cover to his retreat and the abandonment of Wilmington to its fate. General Hoke marched away during the night, and Cox's advance across the swamp with | Terry's troops followed up, entering the city at the dawn of Washington's > Wilmington having been secured as a base for Sherman in case of need, General Schofield turned his attention to securing a better one at Newbern, N. C., then in Federal possession, but cut off from Goldsboro, where Sherman was expected to halt by a Confederate post at Kingston. Leaving Terry in command of Wilmington, Schofield detached General Cox to Newbern to open the road to Goldsboro. This was effected after a stubborn battle at Kingston, and Schofield united the column under Terry with Sherman's army at Goldsboro, with communications open to both Newbern and Wilming-GEORGE L. James Caldo Monday, Frank Millard injured his hand ism a Source of Peril.

(Special Correspondence.)

For a brief hour on the forenoon of the Sabbath, which is Friday, pious folk of Tangier leave the backbiting and chicanery of the bazaars and vanish silently, within the portals of the mosque, over which, during divine service, flutters the red bandrol. The city is then seen in peaceful mood, a city of the dead; and the European may ride unchecked past stalls where none trade, past wells where none draw water. The shrill tongued "muezzin" has proclaimed from the tall, white minaret that Allah is the One God, and the slippered worshippers have gathered their flowing robes about them and gone within, to prostrate themselves and to testify to the Attributes.

The Difficulties of Progression.

Within the city itself the European is most struck by the low arches that span every other street, and by the absence of sidewalk or payement. By the former he will, until he acquires the knack of a sudden stoop in the saddle, like the Comanche Indian threatened by a speeding arrow, be struck on the temple. Unless the standard of height has appreciably risen in both man and beast, the original architect of these ten-foot archways, beneath which you are expected to turned back, vaguely wondering why ride with dignity on a caracolling a patch known since childhood should barb or ambling mule, either of them going fifteen hands, must have been Ishmael himself, his hand against his

The absence of sidewalk is the affair of those who have no beast, and the sight of a nervous pedestrian wedged between a frisky horse and an advancing Indian file of camels is a joy to the horseman of artistic perceptions. The pungent odor of the ship of the desert has such instant effect on otherwise well conducted horses as to make them stand on their hind legs, paw the air, waltz, and generally conduct themselves as if they were the property of some beautiful equestrienne at the Hippodrome. Finally, the horse usually subsides on some skingy but voluble native, who promptly consigns it and its rider, with quite unnecessary fervor, to the warm hosheels over head over the top of the pitality of the Pit.

The beggars line the more fashionable thoroughfares, particularly on saints' days, in brigades. Miserable alms, so mean that the left hand would blush to know what the right hand has given, go a long way, and the Frank is able to cover himself with glory and bring transient sunshine to the pock-pitted face of some poor Arab with so small a coin as might bring a look of scrofulous hauteur to the face of a professional beggar of Madrid.

frontier of Olii. Twice he started and prove 'so confusing. Again he started, and this time kept on. The jungle waved, muttered and beckoned. The road became alive and undulated like the sea. Then came a blank till something tripped and threw him. He struggled to his feet, realizing his danger. The menace of the Hawalian jungle at night is terrible and certain of fulfillment, for miles about the great volcano, the whole country is honeycombed by blow holes-crevices vast as council halls, or narrow as the grave, some gaping open to the air, others hid under vines and leavestraps for unwary feet, lying in wait for centuries, perhaps, till at the appointed time, another name is added to the long list of "missing." Had Opunui been in his sober senses, he would have lain still till daylight came to his rescue. As it was, fear smote him with panic. Frantically he tore at the drooping creepers, fought his way through tangled growths, struggled as the intertwined roots caught and clung-on, and on, madly, crying aloud for help on all the banished gods of his race.

Then the inevitable happened! There was a rending of rotten branches, a crash, high and tinkling, like breaking glass, as the thin lavacrushed beneath his feet. For an instant the merciless forest rang with his scream of terror-then all was still!-Metropolitan Magazine.

He reached them just in time to seize the horse's rein, and hinder his further progress.

"Diamine! You insolent fellow, what mean you by running into me and overturning yonder lady's chair?" he cried, breathless from his exertions.

"Let go my rein, you flea-bitten cur," was the insulting reply. "How dare you? I ride upon the king's business; and, raising his whip, he made a move as though to strike Tonti across the Tonti saw the movement and quick as thought had his sword-point against the man's breast.

"Make but one motion with that whip or one effort to escape and I shall spit you like I would any other carrion. King's business or no, you must first return and make amends to the occupant of you chair, and then disclose your name and face to me, so that if you are not the street-scuri your actions indicate you to be. I can have the pleasure of crossing swords with you. Come, about face;" and so speaking. Tonti turned the horse's head and led both horse and rider back to the chair. Still keeping his sword drawn, he advanced to the window, whose curtain was down, and, bowing, said in a respectful voice:

'It grieves me truly, madame, that this fright should have occurred to you, and I hope that you are not injured by the overthrow. Believe me, the cause of it shall be justly punished that punishment I have brought him to you to force him, at the point of my sword, if necessary, to make due repaso that I may know whether he is worthy for a soldier to meet upon the city. field of honor."

While speaking he involuntarily lowered his sword a trifle. The rider saw his opportunity, and suddenly digging the spurs into his horse, he jerked the rein from Tonti's hand, and jerked the rein from Tonti's hand, and as he passed struck him a stinging sorceress, poisoner, infanticide the blow upon the cheek with his whip. The Britt-Nelson fight will undoubtedly be one of the most interesting engagements of recent years. Both men will be trained to the hour, and each can hit with the force and victousness of a human demon.

The dislike of the average fight fan for the scientific boxer who prefers to win a safe victory on points rather than take a risk trying for a knockout was shown recently at Chelsea, Mass. Abe Attell and Kid Goodman met and went fifteen rounds. Reports of the Ben Jordan is still the 126 pound champion of England. After fifteen rounds of fighting in which not a single damaging blow was struck he was recently given the decision over Pedlar Palmer before the National Sporting club, London. The spectators did not agree with the decision of Referee Douglass and there were loud cries for a draw.

From the first beil Palmer did all the leading, but Jordan, by covering up and clinching, cleverly avoided every onslaught and throughout showed a wenderful ability to escape punishment, although as a matter of fact he was unable to inflict any himself.

Palmer was always a favorite in the betting, and at the prevailing odds of 7 to 4 there were thousands of pounds wagered on the result. As a side inducement to the championship of England the boys battled for a purse of $2,500 and a side wager of $500.

There is no story that can be told of the fight by rounds. Each was alike. There would be a full half minute of long range sparring, followed by a rush to a clinch. There they would hang until Douglass had them clear.

'As a preliminary there was a smashing good contest between Bowker, the conqueror of Frankie Neil, and Owen Moran, a youngster who has only recently been discovered.

The boys were scheduled to go three rounds, and their encounter was such a rattling good one that a demand from the house for a continuation of the go resulted in a fourth. It was a biff-bang go all the way, and Moran demonstrated at every angle that he is capable of holding his own with Bow-

Do You Know Good Healthy Sleep?

A healthy person sleeps a healthy sleep when

When you find that half the time you can't sleep in the same old healthy way then it is time to take care of your nerves.

Tired nerves won't let you sleep well and won't let you feel well. They are sick; they demand attention and they won't let you alone until they get it. No prescription has ever been formulated that produced such wonderful and rapid results, in building up tired nerves as Paine's Celery Com-

Sleeplessness is simply one of the many warnings that tired, sick nerves give. Feed them with Paine's Celery Compound and you will build them back to their real strength and find again that good, healthy sleep,-which should come as natural to-day as it did in childhood.

You can take Paine's Celery Compound once a day, or once a month, or four times a day, according to your need; and when the medicine has done its work and your system is again running in the complete harmony of true health, you can cease taking the medicine, and you will not miss it. The reason is that Paine's Celery Compound is a real food for the nerve. It feeds and strengthens the entire nerve fabric.

The force sent out by healthy nerves is nature's stimulus, to keep all the organs of the body working well. It is by restoring the nerves and making new all that makes life worth living depends upon a healthy supply of nerve force. Paine's Celery Compound makes new Nerve Force, it revives the old force and makes new.

Nerve Force that Paine's Celery Compound works all its wonders. Health, vigor, determination, courage-in fact,

It not only does this, but by strengthening the nerves that control all the organs of the body, it cures the real cause of headaches, neuralgia, rheumatism, malaria, and the many diseases coming from a run down condition of the nerves.

Two days' treatment with Paine's Celery Compound will prove its marvelous power.

It braces you up and you feel its marvelous effect almost instantly.

A case of extreme nervousness and lack of good healthy sleep is told by Charles F. Camp-

"I would jump at my own shadow. I suffered so from extreme nervousness. "Every spring my condition was worse

As a home entertainer it has no equal. The best talent of the country is brought right up to your fireside to while away the long winter evenings with song and comical recitations. An impromptu dance may be gotten up at a moment's notice, and here you have the best orchestra of the country to play the dance music. Or you may wish to learn a song and what better instructor can you have than one of these peerless singers to phrase a song over and over again if need be. The possibilities of this wonderful machine for instruction and amusement are endless.

Free demonstrations every day this week at our store. Call and learn full particulars.

Let the Demonstrators, who are making a house to house demonstriion, show the machine in your home.
